Training & Activities

Throughout the six-day programme, the Rangers were immersed in a carefully curated blend of theoretical instruction and practical application. Each day was structured to instil discipline, resilience, and cooperative spirit, while steadily enhancing the participants' technical and leadership capacities.

The major components of the training included:

- Pioneering: Intensive practical sessions on knotting, lashing, and the construction of basic structures, cultivating precision, ingenuity, and teamwork.
- First Aid and Emergency Response: Systematic training in first aid and emergency handling, equipping the Rangers with essential life-saving skills and a heightened sense of responsibility towards others.
- Camping Skills and Camp Discipline: Instruction in camping techniques, maintenance of cleanliness, adherence to routine, and observance of discipline, reinforcing self-reliance and respect for collective order.
- Teamwork and Leadership Development: Group activities and leadership exercises designed to strengthen coordination, decision-making, and mutual trust, thereby fostering unity and shared purpose.

CONCLUSION

The NIPUN Testing Camp at STC, Rewalsar was marked by disciplined participation, sincere effort, and a spirit of learning among all Rangers. The camp not only refined their practical skills but also deepened their commitment to service, leadership, and social responsibility. In essence, the programme stood as a meaningful milestone in their Ranger journey, leaving them better prepared to shoulder responsibilities with confidence, integrity, and compassion.
